Our vision is to improve the physical condition of Scotland's water environment, so that it can deliver a wide range of services to support people's health and enjoyment, sustainable economic growth, and wildlife. This will require: • greater integration of policy; • a clearer framework of action for organisations and land managers; improve community health status. Sufficient and safe drinking water supply, improved sanitation, access to sanitary means of human excreta disposal, hygienic living conditions of the people, healthy settings for markets and schools and quality health services are the major areas of work.
