Light Blue Desire investigates the power, failure, and fluidity of language. The project, in its current incarnation as an artist book, lyrically maps the amorphous definition and meaning of the word blue across languages. The collection of idioms reveals a compendium of contradictions; concepts around a color that is both high and low, peaceful and pornographic, melancholic and manipulative, and consistently voted the world's favorite color. How and why does blue seep into our speech, color our thoughts, lap into our languages? Once in a Blue Moon BearManor

What are the Elements? The answer would differ from person to person, that is unless you were in the magical realm of the Cascade Region. A small world of its own where anything seems possible and myth takes form. In the Cascades, the elements Dark, Earth, Fire, Light, Water and Wind is each a powerful spirit that takes the form and being of a human with total control of their element. Every generation, said elemental spirits are reincarnated into a new body, unrelated to the host before. The six Casters live amongst the people of the land, mastering their incredible magic and assisting those who need it. All was well in the valiant region, but then something went wrong. In the last century, war broke out. The Casters, forced onto opposing sides of the battle and their normally helpful powers used for destruction and selfishness. After years of pointless struggles, the Casters decided to end their own reign of battle and simply vanished. Now, a new century has dawned and though it is not completely clear to them, the Casters have been chosen. The spirits rests within their newest host, waiting until the day the chosen ones learn to harness their magnificent powers. Sides have been made and lines drawn as a new battle begins and a new threat launches the first strike. Can the new six come together to end the war as in the past, or will time run short, and the end of freedom in the Cascades with it? Only time and luck will tell.

Married . . . with Children premiered on Fox TV in 1987 and updated the Don Ameche and Frances Langford radio comedy series, The Bickersons, and Jackie Gleason's TV classic, The Honeymooners, with a raunchy, cutting-edge slant that focused on a lovable yet laughable family headed by endearingly flawed Al (Ed O'Neill), his housework-hating wife, sexy daughter, and randy son. For 11 seasons, the brilliant team of talent put the funk in dysfunctional. Rediscover the exhilarating humor and intellectual excitement in Denise Noe's first book. She delves behind-the-scenes with Michael Moye, Ron Leavitt, Ed O'Neill, Katey Sagal, Christina Applegate, David Faustino, David Garrison, Amanda Bearse, E. E. Bell, and Ritch Shydney. You'll be fascinated by the story of how two rogue writers created a deliberately off-the-wall program; how it almost got derailed before production began; how a controversy could have plucked the series off the air but ended up injecting a much needed shot in the arm; how a reality-based show occasionally—and courageously—ventured into comedy with a fantasy, horror, and/or science fiction spin. Once in a Blue Moon is the story of one man's never-ending affair with Manchester City. Be it playing, watching or managing, Steve 'Worthy' Worthington's life in football has never been easy. Having suffered an almost fatal road accident in the week before his ninth birthday, any aspirations for global stardom as a player were crushed beneath the wheels of a speeding Triumph Spitfire in 1971. As a spectator he fared no better. Over the years Manchester City and England addicts have experienced many disappointments - most of which he was there to see. As manager of his beloved Sunday League club Lee Athletic, success was a word used only on the odd occasion when he persuaded his team to turn up sober and in time for kick-off. But two things that have always kept him going were his love of the local 'Indie' music scene and an ability to find humour during the darkest of times. Join him on a vivid journey that takes you into the beating heart of 1960s and '70s working class Manchester: through five decades of football (and a bit of cricket), music and people, in the eyes and ears of an everyday bloke who turned constant failure into final triumph.
